Democratic, Right or wrong.

TRUE TO THE GRAY.

BY PEARL RIVERS.

I cannot listen to your words;

The land is long and wide—

Go seek some happy Northern girl,

To be your loving bride.

My brother, they were soldiers—

The youngest of the three

Was slain while fighting by the side

Of gallant Fitzlugh Lee.

They left his body on the field,

(Your side the day had won.)

A soldier spurred him with his foot—

You might have been the one.

My lover was a soldier;

He belonged to Fenton's band;

A sabre pierced his gallant heart—

Yours might have been the band.

He reeled and fell, but was not dead,

A horseman spurred his steed

And trampled on the lying bridle—

You may have done the deed.

I hold no hatred in my heart,

No cold, malicious spite.

For every gallant soldier fought

Upon the other side.

But still I cannot kiss the hand

That smote my country sore,

Nor love the foe that trampled down

The colors that she bore.

Between my heart and yours, there rolls

A deep and crimson tide—

My brother's and my lover's blood

Forbids me be your bride.

The girls who loved the boys in gray,

The girls in country true,

Must never in wedlock give the hand

To those who wore the blue.

Fitz Green Hallack.

Among the notable people who visited New York in 1857 was a well-mannered but somewhat silent young man, who was landed at Norfolk,

Va., from a French frigate, in the month of March, and upon whose chest was engraved Prince Louis

Napoleon Bonaparte. During his two month's sojourn in New York,

Hallack became well acquainted with him, meeting "the pretender to the French crown," as he was then styled, often in society, and having a seat next to the Prince at a large dinner party given by Chancellor

Kent. Times change, says the Latin proverb, and persons change with them. How astonished did George the Third would have been had any one shown in a mirror, like that of Cornelius Agrippa, such a vision of the future as his granddaughter being on a visit to the nephew of a man whom in his day English satirists were accustomed to ridicule as "a little Corsican soldier." Relating

What Stimulants shall we Use.

George D. Prentice has contributed largely to the gems that sparkle in our English literature. This, on stimulants, may be placed among the golden sayings of Pythagoras:

There are times when the pulse lies low in the bosom, and beats low in the veins, when the spirit sleeps

the sleep, which apparently, knows no waking, in its house of clay, and the window shutters are closed, and the door hung with the invisible craple of melancholy, when we wish

the golden sunshine pitchy darkness, and very willing to fancy clouds where no clouds be? This is a state of sickness when physic may be thrown to the dogs, for we will have none of it. What shall raise the sleeping Lazarus? What shall make the heart beat music again, and the pulses dance to it through all the myriad thronged halls in our house of life? What shall make the sun kiss the eastern hills for us, with all his awakening gladness, and the night overflow with moonlight, music, love and flowers? Love itself is the great stimulant, the most intoxicating of all, and performs all these miracles;

but it is a miracle itself, and is not at the drug store, whatever they say.

The counterfeits in the market, but the winged god is not a money changer, we assure you.

Men have tried many things, but still they ask for stimulants—the stimulants we use, but require the use of more. Men try to drown the floating dead of their own souls in the wine-cup, but the corpse will rise. We see their faces in the bubbles. The intoxication of drink sets the world whirling again, and the pulses playing music, and the thoughts galloping, but the first clock runs down sooner, and the unnatural stimulation only leaves the house it fills with the wildest revelry—more silent, more sad, more deserted, more dead.

There is only one stimulant that never fails; and yet never intoxicates

Duty.—Duty puts a blue sky over every man—up in his heart may become which the skylark Happiness always goes singing.

(Charlotte S. C. Courier.)

The Republican candidate for Governor of Rhode Island was elected by 3,336 majority. The Senate stands twenty-six Republicans to seven Democrats; House six Republicans to twelve Democrats.

Within the past ten days twenty large rafts of lumber and logs have passed Claysville from the up-river lumber grounds of the Licking River Lumber and Mining Company, of Boston Station, on the Kentucky Central railroad.

The Lexington Observer and Reporter says: "The farmers are complaining bitterly of the bad faith of a great many of the negroes, who pay no respect whatever to the written contracts they enter into. The employer suffers not only an annoyance, but often a serious loss by hands leaving him at a moment's warning. Those who act in this way should be made to suffer for it, and not a dollar ought to be paid to them. Let there be some concerted action on the part of the farmers and we will soon obviate the difficulty."

A Bourbon county cow suckles a calf and gives eight gallons of milk per day.

A newspaper in Paris employs an "editor" whose duty it is to serve the terms of imprisonment decreed in libel suits.

Josh Billings says: "When a young man want good for anything else I like to see him carry a gold-headed cane. If he can't buy a cane, let him part his hair in the middle."

Do not Trifle with Danger.

A single spark may kindle a flame that will consume a city, and small ailments neglected, may end in fatal disorders. Bearing this fact in mind, let the first symptoms of debility or nervous prostration be met promptly with invigorating treatment. Foremost among the vegetable tonics of the age stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and whenever the vital powers seem to languish or there is any reason to suspect that the functions essential to the sustenance and purification of the body are imperfectly performed, this invaluable invigorant and antiseptic should at once be resorted to. Indigestion always produces weakness of the bodily powers. Sometimes it happens that the appetite demands more food than the stomach can digest; though not more perhaps, than is required to keep up the full strength of the frame. The object, under such circumstances, is to increase the digestive capacity of the assimilating organs, so as to make it equal to the duty imposed upon it by the appetite, and capable of supplying the building material of the system as fast as it is required. This object is fully accomplished by the use of the Bitters. They tone and gently stimulate the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, and the result is that the solvent is mingled with the food in sufficient quantity to convert all its nourishing particles into pure and wholesome elements. If, on the other hand, there is a deficiency of appetite, with out any corresponding debility, or if the stomach is subject to indigestion, to constipation, to biliousness, and for both these complaints Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are recommended as a safe and certain remedy.

We are now prepared to execute all kinds of Job Work—such as Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Posters, &c.—in every style, and in the neatest possible manner, and at the lowest prices. Give us a call.

A Card.

Ladies and gentlemen who have paid me their accounts, I return them my grateful acknowledgments, and to those who have put me off with the stale declaration, "I'll pay you to-morrow," "I'll pay Monday," "I'll pay you Saturday," "I'll pay you County Court day," "Oh! that little account I can pay most any time," have failed to come to time, and I regret to say, that unless they come forward and satisfy me at once, Judge Curry will add something more to their accounts in the way of cost.

A. WILLIAMSON.

A. J. Morey and lady passed through the city yesterday, on a bridal tour to the West. O, Hymen! Hymen! surely thy ways are ways of pleasantness, and thy paths are paths of peace. May he ascend the slippery path of life with the full assurance that his wheel is clocked, and "may his shadow never grow less" than two. May all evil forsake him, and may he never have occasion to look back with longing eyes on his life of single blessedness. May he walk in the path of duty, fearing no evil, having a rod and a staff to comfort him. May his "blessings" be piled Olympus high, "and may they live long and prosper, and grow up."

Though "Ulysses hath gone upon his wandering, there is one yet left at Ithica" who is able to bend Love's matchless bow; and who will receive all harpings, scented notes, perfume, ed billets, love knots, etc., in lieu of the departed Ulysses.

Beautiful Neckties, Bows, Pocket-handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Half Hoars, (of English manufacture,) at A. Williamson's.

A vote was taken on County Court day by the stockholders of the Agricultural and Manufacturing Association as to whether they would remove the buildings to some point on the railroad, or allow them to remain where they are, and subscribe one thousand dollars stock to some Turnpike Company that would undertake to build a turnpike from Cynthia running past their grounds. Which resulted in the latter proposition being carried by a large majority. So that the public may expect to travel on a turnpike road to the fair next fall.

A first rate article of brogan shoes for men working in mud or rock, are at A. Williamson's. None better any where.

"Barrett's" Invigorates and Beautifies.

W. H. Brighter sold to J. J. Parrish his lot on Main street, 30 feet front for the sum of twelve hundred dollars. This lot is in the burnt district. Mr. Parrish will proceed forthwith to put up a substantial brick residence.

Young lady, if you have an ugly foot clothe it with the Kentucky heel Gaiter at A. Williamson's. None better.

MARRIED.

At the Christian church, Providence Fayette county, April 13th, at 10 o'clock A. M., by Elder R. M. Gano, Mr. A. J. Morey, son of the Cynthia News, to Miss Edw. B. Cassell, of Fayette county.

Miss Florida Roberts, Homer Langmore, Miss Shaw Turner, T. W. Anderson, Miss Jennie Heasley, D. M. Swisher, Miss Bell Milligan.

The cheapest custom made calf boots ever brought to Cynthia, are at A. Williamson's.

The first tenant of Battle Grove Cemetery is George W. Coats a citizen of this city who "went and lay down there under the turf alone." He was buried upon the City lot, purchased by the City for the resting place of her poor.

Very handsome Hats for men and boys, with prices to suit any body, are at A. Williamson's. Try him one pop, anyhow.

Planters Hotel.

This new Hotel is now undergoing a thorough cleaning and repair and the proprietor promises to the traveling public that no exertions shall be spared on his part to make it what Covington has so long needed a first class hotel.

Several gentlemen from a distance of capital and standing, visited Cynthia last Monday. Some of them expressed a desire to locate here. So we go.

"Barrett's" restores with rapidity.

FOREPAUGH'S MAMMOTH MENAGERIE AND CIRCUS.—This mammoth institution, which is advertised in another column to appear in this place, on Thursday, April 22d at one and seven o'clock, P. M. is beyond all question the largest and most complete outfit, embracing a greater variety of animals, and the choicest Equestrians and Acrobatic troupe of performers ever before united under one Pavilion for a summer's campaign. It is spoken of everywhere as par excellence to the most wealthy and gorgeous consolidation of the nineteenth century, reflecting great credit upon the energy and perseverance of Adam Forepaugh, whose providence and forethought, combined with remarkable skill and sagacity in devising means for rendering his Show not only unobjectionable to the cultivated and refined, but making it in every respect worthy of the confidence and patronage of an appreciative public. His career last year in the East, and in the great State of New York, was a perfect triumph of success, reaping a rich harvest of the golden opinions of the public press, which hesitated not to pronounce his establishment, both as to grandeur and magnificence, and the variety and extent of his great Zoological collection, the largest and grandest in America, numbering, as it does, twenty-five magnificent cages, filled with living wild animals, and thirty-five elegantly finished wagons for transporting the baggage, du cirque, besides Camels, Dromedaries, Elephants, etc., constituting a picturesque procession more than a mile in length. We take pleasure, therefore in advertising this great Equestrian and Animal Show, and advise our readers, one and all, to go and see it for themselves. Those who wish to see the animals only, can do so, having one hour and a half to inspect them, before the Circus performances commence, and even longer if they desire, as they are exhibited in separate apartments. A feature with this show is the Band, all of which is Prussians, engaged in Berlin Prussia, this last winter, and are claimed to be the best Band in the country. For particulars see advertisement in another column and the small bills.

Gaiters for gentlemen can be bought cheaper from A. Williamson than from any other house in Kentucky. That's so.

"Barrett's" keeps the hair moist.

The monument, erected by the citizens of Harrison county, to the memory of the Volunteers, who fell in the Mexican war, is being removed from the Court House square to the new Cemetery on the Millersburg pike.

The original contributors to the purchase of this monument, thought that the public square was the most suitable and appropriate place for its final resting place, inasmuch as any one visiting Cynthia would almost certainly see it. Its removal will remove the pride and veneration the people felt for it. Comparatively few people, and especially strangers, will see it at its present destined location.

The nicest Spring Collars to suit gentlemen, are at A. Williamson's. Give him a call, as his goods are fine.

For a strong, good, and cheap Shoe for men and boys, go to A. Williamson's. He sells very cheap.

"Barrett's" Miraculous Hair Restorative.

The appointment of a city Marshall, to serve the ensuing term, will be one among the first duties of the incoming City Council. As it is one of the most important offices connected with one municipal government, it is to be hoped that the power vested in them may be exercised with a due regard to the best interests of the city and the maintenance of peace and good order within its limits. We have in this community and surrounding country a class of men who pride themselves upon setting the law and its officers at defiance; who make every visit the opportunity of a drunken carousal, often prolonged far towards morning, and making night hideous with hoots and yells and caterwaulings that even a drunken Indian would be ashamed of. Yet these offenders against the plainly written ordinances of the City have never, with perhaps the exception of a few isolated cases, been molested.

What we want, therefore, is an energetic and competent man who, knowing his duty, will dare to do it.

Tell your neighbors to go to all the stores and examine, and then buy A. Williamson's cheap Calf Boots. They fit easy.

The brother of Dr. J. P. Bell, who died at Gordonsville, Va., during the war, is now on a visit to Virginia for the purpose of bringing the remains of his brother home.

The finest and handsomest and cheapest children's shoes for Spring and Summer wear are at A. Williamson's. No joke.

COUNTY COURT DAY SALES.—But few cattle in the market, mostly yearlings, and selling at fair prices, fully as good as last month's sales. A few male colts were offered but were withdrawn, prices having declined. Horses were in good demand and sold at fair prices. The day was changeable, yet the crowd in attendance was good.

"Barrett's" recommends itself.

The handsomest custom made Kentucky heel Gaiters for Spring and Summer wear, are at A. Williamson's. They please all.

We have been shown the plans and specifications of the house proposed to be built by Mr. Jas. A. Cook on the grounds lately purchased by him of Dr. John O. Hodges. The building will occupy the centre of the lot which is an entire square, and will front on two streets, Miller and Pike. The grounds are admirably situated, being elevated and commanding a view of the entire city, and much of the surrounding country. Many stately maples, nature's noblest ornaments, now adorn the place, and in after years under the skillful management of Mr. Cook we have no hesitancy in saying that it will become a perfect Paradise.

The structure of the building itself deserves a passing notice at our hands, in as much as it is designed to be the most finished and elegant piece of architecture in the city. The main building will front on each of the streets named above, about 50 feet and will be octagonal. The first or principal floor will contain two parlors, each 16 feet square, beautifully frescoed, Dining Room, Reception Room, Family Room, two other Rooms, and Hall 10 feet wide running full length of the house.

The second floor will contain six sleeping apartments and Bath Room supplied with hot and cold water. The whole house will be heated with steam pipes. There will be two Verandas, three balconies, and one Bay Window. The roofing will be of French slate. On the top of the house will be a Balcony. Attached to the main building will be an Ell of two stories. In the entire house will be thirty windows and forty-seven doors. The style of the architecture will be the English Villa.

The entire cost of the building will be about thirty thousand dollars. We wish Mr. Cook much success in this enterprise, and long life to enjoy this beautiful and elegant residence.
